The Shams Group theme for MUSE is “Healthcare Technology, Today and Into the Future.” Product demonstrations will be relevant to what technology is available now and what is coming in the future for the healthcare industry.

Upon learning more about TSG products, attendees will have a chance to win a BB-8 robot from the famous Star Wars movie series, <http://bit.ly/1oznGv2>. Another item that The Shams Group will be offering as a prize at MUSE is the dancing stand, a metal stand with several shelves that move in mesmerizing circles.

Omeed Shams, Business Director at The Shams Group, said, “This year I look forward to presenting, Patient Kiosk, ezPay: payment automation for Meditech. With the help of Vantiv & ElementPS, we are re-defining payment collection across the enterprise for Meditech hospitals.” When asked about the benefits of ezPay Omeed stated, “ezPay saves our clients tens of thousands (of dollars) a month in processing fees, offers the latest in EMV and security, and fully integrates all payment capture directly back into Meditech (or other billing modules) - saving registration and other billing staff countless hours of manual data entry.”

The purpose of the International MUSE Conference is to provide networking, education and professional growth with topics related to Meditech users. When asked about how the MUSE conference benefits attendees, MUSE CEO, Alan Sherbinin said, “At a single venue, executives can review and consider products and services that will complement their MEDITECH platforms.”
